A GRAPHIC MAP OF THE WORLD'S TROPICAL DISEASES

£500.00

World Map of the Major Tropical Diseases.

Cartographer ARTZYBASHEFF, Boris.

Date 1944

Stock #: 22553

Publication: New York: Time Inc., 1944. Colour lithographic map. Sheet 355 x 520mm.

Condition: Centre fold taped on reverse, a few chips in edges.

DESCRIPTION:

A map of the world illustrating the incidence of fifteen tropical diseases by gruesome representations of either the insects and other vermin that transmit them or their deforming effects on man. The only exception is Malaria, with infected countries shown in pink rather than a vignette. The diseases are described in the key under the map.

Boris Artzybasheff (1899-1965) was a Russian-born illustrator for American magazines including 'Life', 'Fortune' and 'Time'. This map was published in Life Magazine during World War II, probably as a health warning to American soldiers serving overseas.
